Transition Program

School Transition Planning:

Transition planning helps students with an Individualized Education Program (IEP) prepare for life after high school. IEP transition planning starts at age 16. It prepares children with disabilities to lead productive and independent adult lives to the best extent possible. It is important for caregivers to take an active role in IEP meetings and planning.

Review the Meeting Checklist for Students before meeting with your IEP team.

Encourage your young adult to be engaged in the IEP process.
