

My trip to the Audiologist...

I am going to Children's Mercy for a hearing test today.

I may take an elevator to the waiting room.

There will be chairs for me to sit while I wait for the Audiologist.

When the Audiologist calls my name, we will go to a special quiet room.

I will sit in the chairs while the Audiologist talks to me and my family.

The Audiologist is kind and will explain everything to me. There are even toys in the room!

The Audiologist will look in my ear with a flashlight. Nothing hurts!

The Audiologist will take a picture of my ear. I can touch it if I ask nicely.

Then, I will listen to robot music with a small earphone.

Next, I get to wear headphones or ear pillows for the listening game.

An Audiologist talks to me through the window.

I will listen for words and look at pictures.

Then, I listen for silly sounds and play games with an Audiologist!

After the listening games, the Audiologist will talk with my family.

They are so proud of my hard work! I can pick out a sticker to celebrate!

It's time to go home now!
